Westview Club Spotlight Archery Club

For the Archery Club spotlight, we interviewed two members of the club— Maddison Mishler (MM) and Kyle Hochstetler (KH). The questions and their responses are below.

What is the purpose of Archery club?

MM: I feel we each have our own purpose for this club. Personally, I wanted to feel like I was part of something, to show we all can have strength in what we do. KH: I like the challenge of the club. We have to do our best, but you can have fun at it too. I know all the members in the club, and that's what makes me feel comfortable and part of the team.

What are some difficulties you must work through?

MM: Self-confidence and focus. When you're in archery, you have to have a common focal point. Sometimes I have days where I feel down because I could have done better or hit a number I didn't want to, but, in the end, I feel it's more about being able to have fun and enjoy what you're able to do. KH: Focusing on the target. In archery, you can't just aim for the bullseye, you have to find the right spot to aim. You also have to make sure your form is correct.

How do you handle the challenges?

MM: We all encourage each other and we all tell each other we have done a good job. KH: Stay calm and focus. The team and Mr. Stacy, the club sponsor, help me to stay focused. I try to take a deep breath before I shoot.

Can you name one of your best memories?

MM: My favorite memories include the times after we have competitions where we go out to eat. It gives us a chance to relax after the stress of the competition, to just talk, and have fun. KH: There is a senior I really look up to. She has taught me a lot. I finally topped her score. After that we went to Subway as a group and took some pictures with the Christmas lights. It was a lot of fun.

Have there been any horrible memories?

MM: The only horrible memory I have is probably the one time where we went to a 3D shoot and I missed the biggest target about three times. KH: At practice, someone made a bet with me. I had to hit so many bulls-eyes or yellows or I couldn't speak for the rest of practice. It was the longest practice ever!

What does the future of this club look like to you?

MM: Archery club is a hobby I would really like to be able to continue with, or be in one of the archery leagues they have. KH: I am planning on continuing it next year for my Senior year. After that, I would love to find a college or continue shooting somehow. I would love to see the club keep growing so that others can enjoy it as much as I have.

For those who join this club in the future, do you have any advice for them?

MM: Have fun, try your hardest.
A couple bad scores isn't going to hurt you; live life and just realize you're doing something for your own enjoyment and not just to prove that you are better. KH: Have fun! Don't worry about every little detail you can think of. It will take practice and concentration. Anyone can do it. You have to be aware of your surroundings archery is a safe sport when you and others follow the safety rules.

Tell me how you think this club impacts students?

MM; You get to feel like a family. If one person is feeling down or just not in the mood, everyone pitches in and talks to each other and has a good laugh. You'll learn teamwork, confidence, and positivity. KH: It has made me feel a part of something. I absolutely love the club and don't mind getting up early for practice or going to a competition on Saturday. We are like a family and enjoy each other. It teaches us discipline and how to be a good sport and encourage each other and the other team. We also learn and practice good manners. For example, when we go up to score, we might take turns or let the other person go first.

Westview Club Spotlight National Art Honor Society

For the National Art Honor Society (NAHS) spotlight, we interviewed club sponsor Mrs. Jesse Martin (JM). The questions and her responses are below.

What is the purpose of National Art Honor Society?

JM: The purpose of NAHS is to spread awareness of the visual arts to our school and our community. It is geared toward the students who excel in the visual arts because so often academics focuses on math and science.

What are some difficulties you must work through?

JM: Scheduling! It's hard to schedule events where all members are able to attend because so many members are involved in so many things.

How do you handle the challenges?

JM: Be flexible with students and their schedules and try to include as many members as possible.

Can you name one of your best memories?

JM: There are too many to name. I have enjoyed all of the summer excursions we have been able to take with students in early June. We have gone to NYC, to see Frank Lloyd Wright's Fallingwater house, Chicago, and Toledo. It's been fun to take students on art related trips.

Have there been any horrible memories?

JM: Not really in the club. However, it was horrible to lose one of our early members, Will Becker, in a car accident just before he left for college. We become a tight knit group/community. One of my early years at Westview, NAHS was determined to add flowers/color into the courtyard. Will brought a HUGE box of purple irises to plant in the courtyard. To this day, I always think of Will when the purple irises bloom in the courtyard.

What does the future of this club look like to you?

JM: This is a new year for us that actually opened up NAHS to freshmen. Because of the new pathway program, some students were able to take the Intro to Art class as 8th graders, which has allowed freshmen to take advanced level art classes, making them eligible for NAHS. This will, and has, made our club bigger and more diverse. I hope this will continue to build our club, to make it stronger, and to encourage students who excel in the visual arts to keep excelling in school overall.

For those who join this club in the future, do you have any advice for them?

JM: Jump in! You get what you give, so if you love the arts, get involved!

Tell me how you think this club impacts students

JM: I hope that the club builds a community of artists and gives them a safe space to not only build their talents but thrive as a whole. The arts teach so much more than making pretty pictures. Sometimes, an art project that a student is invested in is what gets them to walk through the school doors in the morning. The rest will follow. I hope this club fuels the fire of visual artists and lets them know that they have a safe space to work and thrive at Westview.

Working in a high school theatre program has really helped me develop a love for hot glue. I have tackled many projects for set and prop design that I know I could do "better" with a needle and thread, and the required buttons, ribbons, buckles, etc., but those methods take a lot more time, money and experience than I have. Instead I do things like turn a battered old purse from the back of our costume room and some ribbons scrounged from the fabric stash into a "Gucci Lunchbox" required for a show. It may be a bit of a stringy mess while I'm working, but as long as the finished product looks good from the audience and is sturdy enough to survive the run of the show, that is all I need.

Local Citizens Honored at SRMA Banquet

Paul Mishler and Gary Miller (in memorial) were honored at the 2022 Shipshewana Retail Merchants Association annual dinner on February 9. The town's annual Quality of Life Award was given to long-time resident Paul Mishler by Shipshewana Town Board Member Zach Stoltzfus.

The business longevity award was given to Wana RV's late Gary Miller, and accepted by his wife Patti and his son Justin.
Gary had opened the business in 1980 as a small engine repair shop. The business has transitioned into selling RVs, but overall has been in business in Shipshewana for forty-two years.

After a one year hiatus because of Covid, this year's event was attended by around 120 business owners and guests. Following a meal by The Blue Gate, a report on tourism efforts was given by LaGrange County CVB director Phylis Youga.

Afterwards the attendees were treated to "Family Feud - Shipshewana Style" hosted by Jay "Steve Harvey"

Chupp. The winning family was the team from The Davis Mercantile. ①

Work on the Hawpatch Trail Continues

Members of LaGrange County
Trails, Inc. recently met with LaGrange County Commissioner Peter Cook to share information about the status of the Hawpatch Trail. The Hawpatch Trail is the first bike/pedestrian trail the organization has planned to be constructed in southwest LaGrange County. The proposed trail will ultimately connect the Fishing Line in Noble County to the Strawberry Trail in Elkhart County.

While the Norfolk Southern rail-road has accepted a purchase proposal from the LaGrange County Trails, Inc., the transaction has not yet been finalized. As of late last year, LaGrange County officials were made aware of the possibility of a better price for the land and another proposal to purchase the land is being offered.

In the meantime, the LaGrange County Trails, Inc. has been acquiring signatures on quitclaim deeds of individuals who own parcels of property that adjoin land that is owned by Norfolk Southern. To date, just over fifty percent of adjoining property owners have signed the documents:

The quitclaim deeds give clear title of ownership of the current railroad land to the county once the funds to purchase are transferred. This is necessary to obtain grants and other funding to construct the trail.

County officials and Trails board members are hopeful the transfer of ownership of the railroad property will occur later this year. As soon as the final proposal of intent to purchase is accepted and signed, fundraising can begin and grants will be sought. In addition to fundraising, negotiations will begin with several individuals who own portions of the railroad corridor that are necessary to complete the trail.

LaGrange County Government and LaGrange County Trails, Inc. are optimistic and determined that together the Hawpatch Trail will be completed in the near future. ①

Low-Dose Aspirin—Should I take it or not?

For many years, doctors have recommended low-dose aspirin for better heart health. The American Heart Association (AHA) has changed the recommendation on who should be taking low-dose aspirin daily. Continue reading to see if you should start a conversation with your doctor about taking it.

What is low-dose aspirin? Low-dose aspirin, also called baby aspirin, is 81 mg. strength, which is lower than the normal dose of 325 mg. The higher dose can be used to treat mild to moderate pain and reduce fever.

How do I know if I need to take low-dose aspirin? The AHA recommends people that have already had a heart attack or stroke take low-dose aspirin everyday. Unless your doctor specifically recommends it, the AHA does not recommend low-dose aspirin for people that have not had a heart attack, stroke, blocked arteries, or coronary angioplasty with stent placement.

If any of the following applies to you, do not take low-dose aspirin without talking to your doctor first.

- Have an intolerance or allergy to aspirin.
- Regularly drink alcohol.
- Are an adult over 70 years old, or a child under 18 years old.
- Are at risk for gastrointestinal bleeding.

 Sponsored by

260-593-2252 • 101 N Main. St. • Topeka, IN

- Take a blood thinning medication such as warfarin (Coumadin), Eliquis, or Xarelto.
- Have upcoming dental or medical procedures.

Aspirin prevents blood clots from forming and thins the blood. This may increase your risk of forming a stomach ulcer or internal bleeding. You should not start taking aspirin daily without speaking to your doctor because the risks and benefits of taking it are different for each person. Do not take aspirin during a heart attack or stroke. Taking aspirin can make a certain kind of stroke, called a "bleeding stroke," worse. If you have symptoms of a sroke or heart attack, call 911. The 911 operator or EMT may tell you to take aspirin, but do not take it to treat a heart attack or stroke.

What are symptoms of a heart attack or stroke? If you have any of these warning signs, CALL 9-1-1 immediately.

Heart attack symptoms:

- Pain or discomfort in the chest, one or both arms, neck, jaw, back, or stomach.
- Shortness of breath.
- Nausea.
- Cold sweat.

Stroke symptoms:

- · Face drooping.
- · Arm weakness.
- Slurred speech.

Call Topeka Pharmacy at 260-593-2252 to answer any questions you may have about aspirin and other over the counter drugs.

Looking Back

A Trip Back in Time

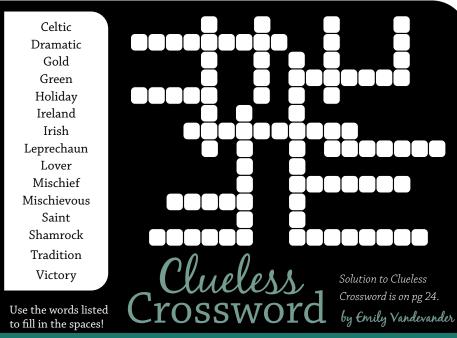

Third graders traveled to Bonneyville Mill on a field trip and learned many things. Students scooped mill pond water and analyzed the creatures found in the water and determined the water is quite clean. They toured the mill and saw corn being made into corn meal. They learned some survival skills and even had an opportunity to make fire! •

BREAST CANCER: BEST PROTECTION IS EARLY DETECTION!!!...

Breast cancer will affect an average of one in seven women during their lifetime and is the second most common cause of cancerrelated deaths in women.

Regular screenings are a good way to keep your health in check. Cancer screenings help to save lives as mammograms can find cancer before symptoms are present. Diagnostic mammography is used when an abnormality is found during screening or in women who have breast complaints, such as a breast mass, nipple discharge, breast pain or skin irritation.

Knowledge is the key ingredient to make better health decisions.

HISTORICAL FEATURE

Elva Parks' Block Building

by Harold D. Gingerich

Who would believe it? But strange as it may be, in 1907, Topeka was the home to the largest building in La-Grange County. The March 21, 1907, edition of the Topeka Journal (page 3) ran the four column-wide story with a large picture and a headline that read "THE PARKS BLOCK—THE LARGEST BUILDING IN LAGRANGE COUNTY." The Parks Block was years ahead of its time, the kind of thing one would only see in the big cities. The block building, constructed by Elva Parks, was the equivalent of a turn-of-thecentury, four floor, shopping mall and it commanded the southwest corner of Topeka's main intersection. One hundred and sixteen years later it is still standing as an enduring legacy. Local folks simply know it as J.J.'s Do It Best Hardware.

While Topeka Journal editor, Charles Mattingly, lavished praise on Elva Parks and his innovative building, very few people today know anything about the visionary genius of Parks. But it was men with an enterprising spirit like Parks, A.W. Ritter, and J.N. Babcock—a banker and the driving force behind the construction of Sycamore Hall—that put Topeka on the map within a mere ten years of it being platted in 1893, and made it arguably the pearl of LaGrange County.

Elva Parks was born in 1858 to Harlan (1828-1882) and Ellen Collett Parks (1829-1911). There is some question about the actual date of his birth. His Find a Grave website (#19552892) says that it was in December, however his death certificate reads that he was born on November 2, 1858. The 1874 plat map of Eden Township shows Harlen Parks as the owner of approximately one-fourth of Section 25, one mile north and one-half mile west of Topeka.

There are a multitude of unanswered questions regarding Parks' early years. We do know that on October 10, 1883, he married Martha Newhouse (1860-1920). The marriage took place in a home in Clearspring Township. John Newhouse was most likely Martha's father. He owned the northwest quarter of Section 32 which was one mile east of Topeka. Unfortunately, we do not know who married them. Elva and Martha would have two children, Forrest J. Parks (1887-1980) and Erwin Parks (1895-1896).

The 1900 census lists the family as living in Eden Township and that Elva was a 41-year-old hardware merchant. When he started into business is not known, but up until the block building was completed, he operated a hardware and furniture store in what is today the Ace Hardware on the east side of North Main.

The June 28, 1920, death of Martha Parks was page-one news in the July 1 Topeka Journal. The news story began, "Mrs. Elva Parks, one of Topeka's most highly respected and well known ladies, died Monday at her home at Fort Lauderdale, Fla." It is interesting to note that her first name never appears in the story. We are told that she had been in failing health for the past several years and that her illness had prompted the purchase of a winter home in Florida. Surviving, in addition to Elva and her son Forrest, were her two brothers Amos and William Newhouse of Topeka. Funeral services were held in the family home at 10 o'clock Friday morning, July 2, and the burial was in Eden Cemetery west of Topeka.

Just over one year later, at the age of 62, on October 7, 1921, Elva married Ella Temple Hedrick (1858-1932) in West Palm Beach, Florida.

As of this writing, the story behind the 1906 construction of the Parks Block remains a mystery. It would be interesting to know who did the actual construction, how much did it cost to build, and how was the project financed.

According to J.J. Egli, the concrete blocks were made by two brothers who were making blocks at a pit which is now a housing addition on Topeka's South Pleasant Avenue. There are two houses, constructed with the identical block, on the east side of North Babcock Avenue, a third is on North Main Street, and a fourth on North Harrison Street. The house on North Harrison Street was built by Floyd Peck. Peck was also the contractor for the rebuilding of Sycamore Hall in 1906, so it is not unreasonable to believe that he may have also built the Parks Block Building.

One of the stories about what motivated Parks to build what he did has to do with the Wabash Railroad. While the story remains unsubstantiated, supposedly Topeka was campaigning to become the location of the roundhouse and machine shop that the Wabash Railroad was planning to build. Were that to have happened, Topeka would have exploded with growth as a major stop along the Wabash line. Unfortunately, the proposed roundhouse went to Montpelier, Ohio instead.

The 1907, Topeka Journal article went into great detail in describing the businesses that occupied the Park Block. On one side of the basement, S.J. Yoder sold farm implements, buggies, and John Deere plows. On the other side were, "Leming & Kauffman enterprising butchers and R.C. Coldren, the acetylene gas man." The north side of the main floor was Ira Sunthimer Grocery & Notions, and the other side was Greenawalt Furniture. On the second floor there was a hotel, Dr. O.F. Bailey had his dentist's office, and Greenawalt Undertaking. The third floor, which was unfinished in 1907, later became a roller-skating rink. The top (third) floor was removed in 1926 because of storm damage.

J.J. Egli has on display an April 26, 1907, article from the G.W.N. Times (Goshen Weekly News Times) that is almost identical to the March 1907 Topeka Journal story, including the photo. In paragraph three of the Journal it reads, "A representative of the JOURNAL, was recently shown through," but the G.W.N. Times says, "a representative of the News Times." We are only left to wonder if the Topeka Journal editor Charles Mattingly shared the story or . . . ?

In 1917, the building was purchased by Ira Smith. Parks lived his final days in Ft. Lauderdale, FL, and in Birmingham, AL, with his son Forrest. Elva Parks died on Tuesday, June 25, 1935, at the age 76, in a Birmingham hospital. His body was returned to Topeka with graveside services and burial in the Eden Cemetery.

I know of at least one relative of Elva Parks living in Topeka—Chris Parks and his wife Lea. Bryan Mc-Coy, LaGrange County Historian, and member of the Topeka Area Historical Society board of directors, is a greatgreat nephew.

The final paragraph in Mattingly's 1907 article is a fitting tribute to the life and legacy of Elva Parks.

"The people of Topeka are justly proud of this building for which they are indebted to the enterprise and loyalty of Elva Parks. As an industrious, honest and able citizen, Mr. Parks is typical of the spirit which dominates our business men, and which is today pushing Topeka along an upward course to greater dimension and to a wider commercial importance."

That well-known phrase "Like a kid in a candy store." is no exaggeration when it comes to Linda Bontrager. And she is the owner!

Walking into Aunt Millie's Candy & Nut Shoppe, located on the third floor of Shipshewana's Davis Mercantile, is almost like stepping back in time. If you are a Baby Boomer, you remember the glory and wonder of being a kid and walking into an old-time candy store. Those were the days when penny candy really did cost just a penny, and a nickel bought you a giant candy bar. From the moment you walked in the door your mouth would begin to water in anticipation of the glorious goodness.

"There was an original Aunt Millie's in the old Davis Hotel and when I was fourteen years old, I started working there," Linda recalls. Aunt Millie was, Amelia D. "Millie" Jones, Linda's great aunt on her mother's side of the family. "When my folks, Alvin and Elsie Miller, bought the Davis Hotel, she worked for us there many, many years ago and that's where the name came from." Linda went on to say that "Many a student at Shipshewana Scott knew her as Grandma Jones. Millie, who spoke Dutch, helped at the school, especially with the Amish children who had a hard time speaking English."

When the mercantile burned in 2004, my husband, Jim, and I didn't have any stores in here at the time, but we felt like we were at a place where we could do something," Bontrager said. "As we were doing all the clean-up and insurance work getting ready to rebuild, we realized that this, the new mercantile, was going to be a much bigger location. We decided that we would like to do something as a family, so we opened up Aunt Millie's. Half the store space was Aunt Millie's and the other half was the Scrap Yard, a scrapbooking store. At that point, Millie was not at the school, so we asked her if she would like to come in and work a couple of days a week. She was thrilled, and so we named it Aunt Millie's again."

Aunt Millie's opened in September of 2005, a year and a half after the fire. Unfortunately, Millie was only able to work a few days in the store before her health deteriorated. She passed away on December 7, 2005, at the age of eighty-four, having never been married.

After seventeen years in business, the Bontrager's have seen a lot of changes. "We survived the 2008–2009 slowdown and one of the things we learned was that candy was fun, candy brings happiness, and five bucks can bring a lot of happiness to a bunch people," Linda said with a smile. "And again, through this pandemic we've seen that candy still makes people happy." She went on to say that where their other business experienced a dip in sales, candy did not.

The Covid 19 pandemic caused them to look for way to make the Aunt Millie's shopping experience even better. "We started making candy in house and people loved it," Linda says. Today they make a lot of their own candy, and they roast all their own nuts. The scrapbooking store was closed, the dividing wall between the stores was removed, and the candy store was expanded—complete with a small candy kitchen. They dip all their own of "fun soda" flavors.

They have five children, two boys and three girls, and they are expecting their first grandchild in July. "All of our kids grew up here," Linda said with a glow, "they grew up pricing, stocking shelves, and running the cash register; it's like our farm that's not a farm. We home-schooled them, but the store got them involved with the public. They learned how to interact with the public, they learned public speaking, and it was a safe place. And the best part of it all is that Grandpa and Grandma (Alvin and Elsie) are here every day."

The story of how Linda, and Jim who pastors Faith Community Chapel on State Rd 5 near Topeka, adopted their three daughters, is heartwarming to say the least. When their sons were approximately four and two years of age, they felt that God was leading them to adopt a child. Having learned through their association with Voice of the Martyrs that the nation of Columbia was very hostile to Christians, they felt led in 2003 to start the process of adopting a two-year-old girl from that country.

Three years later, in December of 2006, they received a call from the adoption agency saying that the Columbian authorities were wondering if the Bontragers would be open to a sibling group. "We said 'Sure we can adopt two,' because we always thought we would adopt again anyway, so why then she said, 'Would you be open to more than two?'" In March 2007, Jim and Linda spent a month in Columbia visiting the girls in their hometown and completing the necessary paperwork before not do two." Linda recalls. "And returning to Indiana with their three daughters, Catalina age six, Diana age five, and Bella age two.

"We are your local candy store," says a beaming Linda. "We have felt so much support from the community and we are so grateful. During this pandemic, when everything was shut down, JoJo's (Pretzels) would be having a special and people would message us saying, 'I'm coming through the drive-up; can I get two pounds of this and three pounds of this?' The community has been vital in supporting us and we so appreciate that."

Linda summed up the interview with, "This is a fun place . . . it's a safe place for kids to come and work. I grew up in Middlebury, it's my hometown, but Shipshewana has my heart!"

LaGrange County Community Foundation Receives Gift

The LaGrange County Community Foundation (LCCF) received a $2.5 million gift from the Howe Military School Board of Trustees to establish two endowments in honor of the school's history. The gift comes from the sale of the Howe Military campus after the school's closing in 2019—it is the largest contribution in the Foundation's history. Following the sale of the campus, the Trustees looked for an opportunity to use the remaining funds to enhance the community of Howe and provide educational scholarships. Two endowments were created: the Howe Legacy Fund—a community grantmaking fund—and the Howe Legacy Scholarship Fund—a scholarship fund for college, trade, or vocational education.

The Howe Legacy Fund will support community development efforts in Howe and LaGrange County, with a significant priority on charitable projects and nonprofits in the Howe community. The second endowment—the Howe Legacy Scholarship Fund—will provide scholarships to the descendants of Howe Military graduates and LaGrange County students pursuing post-secondary education.

"It was important to us to continue the legacy of Howe School; we partnered with the Community Foundation because they understand the size and impact of this gift and could help us realize its mission," said Howe Board President Phil Malone.

The Foundation anticipates both program funds will begin accepting applications in 2024 and make its first distributions that same year. •
