STUDIES

Caleb Cory, a senior at Westview Jr-Sr High School

aleb Cory is a senior at Westview Jr-Sr High School during the 2020-2021 school year. Despite what is going on in the world right now, he has maintained a high academic status in school, as well as staying committed to the basketball team and his social life. The key to balancing all these in his schedule is using his free time wisely and not procrastinating. Caleb says it is easy to get off topic and procrastinate but balancing his sports and school has always been a top priority for him.

There are multiple things that motivate the senior to keep his grades high. Cory is a competitor, whether in basketball or school. "School is another thing I find fun to compete with my friends. It is nice to have them motivate me as well." Caleb also credited his dad with being his biggest motivator and influencer in both school and life. "Having him here at school and home has been great. He pushes me to be the best person I can be."

At the top of his list of favorite things about school is seeing his friends everyday. Caleb's favorite class is Radio and Television, where the school's news team (WVTV) makes news, graphics, and edits videos. The senior stated that school does come naturally easy to him. He does have to work hard for it. Math comes easiest to him as a student. However, school has its challenges, especially during these COVID times. Like others.

Caleb knows what it is like to be quarantined, and learning from home can have its challenges. He says coming back to school after quarantine feels as if you are behind the rest of the class with your own work. However, he and his teachers have worked through it together.

Outside of school, Caleb plays basketball on the Varsity team and is a key member to their success. He stated that playing basketball with his friends has given him his favorite memories of his four years of high school. Besides that, he also enjoys playing video games and hanging out with friends.

For his future, Caleb plans to attend Indiana University Bloomington to pursue a business degree. He says his peers and teachers have helped him throughout high school and that is one of the things he will miss the most. Looking back, one piece of advice he has for underclassman is if they get the chance, choose new electives to take and explore options for what you want to study in college. If there is one thing he could change, he would have loved to have a normal school year these last two years.

SPORTS

bdulla Omar is a senior at Westview Jr-Sr High School. During his time in high school, he played three years of soccer. Abdulla had the unique chance to be able to start and finish his senior year during COVID. He said this year, at times, was a little hard to stay focused because you would not really know if you were actually going to have a season or not. He said another thing that was always on his mind was if he was going to get quarantined or be able to finish his senior year.

This year, the boys won their sectional against Bethany. Abdulla said that this year's sectional was probably the most rewarding to him. He said, "With all the things going on, it was very relieving seeing all our hard work pay off with a trophy to show for it." He went on to say that it helped the team grow closer together because they all had to keep their teammates accountable outside of the sport in order to be able to even have a season.

In the off season, Abdulla tries to stay in shape as much as he can. He says even though he sometimes wanted to just sit at home and do nothing, he knew in order to play at his best ability this year, he needed to stay in shape. One way he does this is just to play soccer with all his friends. He said that during the summer, it is almost a nightly thing where a group of guys get together and play soccer at the Topeka Elementary soccer field. One other thing he said he does to stay active is playing basketball at the park in Topeka. Abdulla says playing soccer during the summer helps him improve a lot and just creates a bigger bond with his teammates and classmates who are there playing.

Outside of playing soccer at Westview, Abdulla says he enjoys going to school and hanging with his friends. He says the one thing that he really likes about Westview is how small it is because that allows everyone to know everyone. He says getting to know a lot of people like he has the past four years has given him memories that will last a lifetime, and no one should take that for granted. Another thing he likes about Westview is how the teachers take the time to get to know you on a personal level and are not just here to get paid and leave. "They respect you as a student and also as a normal person and always want what is best for you," he said.

Abdulla says that he is planning on going to college and see where life takes him from there. He says that he is thankful for every opportunity Westview has given him in playing soccer and says those memories will stay with him forever.

Six Tips for Young Adults After High School

Spring is the perfect time to help your teen or young adult think about life options after high school. It is a joy to help your student fledge and launch their wings into the life God has for them!

But college is not the best plan for every teen or young adult. Here are six tips I recommend helping you and your child explore post-high school options.

Start the process early. If your child is thinking of college, start college visits in the summer or fall of their junior year. Visit several schools. Doing so helps them better find the school that fits their personality and interests. It also narrows their college search or lets them to know if college is not for them. Casting a vision for life beyond high school is important for today's teen and young adults in a post-pandemic world.

Consider all post-secondary options. If your student is interested in college, there are diverse choices for degree programs. These include oncampus four-year degrees, community colleges, online or hybrid degrees, and dual credit courses in high school. The wide variety meets almost any interest, financial need, or obstacle for getting a college degree. Some of the fastest growing careers are those requiring vocational two-year degrees or specialized training in a particular field. In addition to entering the workforce, commuting, taking online courses, or doing an apprenticeship are all viable options for high school graduates.

▶ Do not force a student to go to college if they are uncertain. In today's economy, it is important that a high school graduate is sure he or she wants to go to college before they

The flexibility of college choices allows more kids to work while they figure out what career they want to pursue. In fact, any of us can pursue college at any time, even well into adulthood!

▶ College (or not) is your child's decision. It is important to let your child choose the college they will attend, rather than you choosing it for them. Each college is as different as your child and finding a match for the child to the right university makes a difference in their experience and success.

Expose your child to different career choices. There are a lot of online surveys that allow a student to identify their personality type and career clusters they may like. There are also careers, like making money from online ventures that were not available a few years ago. Help your child practically look at options within their interests that can support them financially, not just as a hobby.

an adult. It is tempting for graduates or young adults to be ambivalent about their future and loaf at their parents' house without working. This is not good for their future or their mental health. Kids are developmentally made to be responsible for themselves and their lives around the age of

18. It is appropriate to set a deadline of when your child is personally responsible for his future, whether it is working or going to school. If they are living at home, paying for adult expenses like rent, cars, insurance, phones, or other things is reasonable. These responsibilities are also a practical motivation for your teen or young adult to be responsible for their future. ①

Sore and Achy Muscles?

If pulling weeds has your knees aching, and Tylenol or Motrin are not cutting it, try a new over-the-counter product. Voltaren (diclofenac) gel used to be prescription only, but now you can buy it without a doctor's order, at your local pharmacy. Voltaren gel is a topical anti-inflammatory agent that treats pain at the source by absorbing through the skin to reduce stiffness, pain, and swelling. This high strength gel can only be used on two body areas at a time, so be sure to talk with your local pharmacist before applying.

pop it! If it is not too painful, simply cover the blister with a bandage or moleskin cut into a donut shape. This will help protect it from rupturing and possible infection. However, if the pain is too much, you can drain the blister with a clean, sharp needle. Try to keep protect the wound. Once it is popped, apply an ointment or petroleum jelly, and cover it with a non-stick bandage. Be sure to check for infection and redress the blister daily until it is healed. Remember, blister prevention is key. Make sure your shoes fit correctly, wear moisture-wicking socks, and wear gloves if you are working with your hands.

Crying Due To Itchy Eyes?

If springtime pollen has your eyes red, runny, and itchy, try over-the-counter Pataday (olopatadine) eye drops. Just like Voltaren gel, Pataday eye drops used to be prescription only. Now, patients can buy this prescription strength product at pharmacies, without a visit to the doctor. Pataday is an antihistamine that stops eyes from itching and prevents itching from happening in the future. Be sure to remove your contact lenses before using!

Topeka Pharmacy is your local hometown pharmacy ready to help you with over-the-counter remedies, medications, diabetes classes, and smoking cessation classes. Contact us at 260-593-2252 for more information!

Five Smart Things You Can Do with Your Tax Refund

Saving money is kind of like eating a healthy diet. You know you should do more of it, but it is hard to resist making spur-of-the-moment choices that make you happier now, but worse off later. Have you chosen what to do with your tax refund this year? A tax refund is a great way that you can set yourself up in a better spot for the future. If you are getting a windfall from the IRS, here are a few great ways to make sure your money continues to work for you.

Create an Emergency

Fund. Many Americans do not have an adequate savings account accessible in case of a sudden financial need. A lack of savings leaves you vulnerable to a job loss, medical emergency, or a major repair and can force you to seek out short-term loans at high interest rates or carry credit card balances for an extended period. Using your refund to start or augment an emergency fund could leave you breathing easier should one of those events arise.

Send it to Savings. The IRS allows you to split-up your refund in up to three accounts via direct deposit. That is a perfect opportunity to stash some funds in a savings account that is inconvenient for you to access, assuring that the money stays out of sight and out of mind until you really need it. If you maintain an account at a bank near a former residence without a branch nearby, augmenting your balance there can keep it safe from impulse buys.

Pay Off Debt. If you are carrying a credit card balance, consider using your tax refund to pay that off. It does not make much financial sense to put money in the bank every month once those minimum payments vanish from vour list of bills.

Fund Your Retirement, What better way to sock money away for retirement than by using funds that are not a part of your paycheck anyway? You can use the funds to purchase or augment a Roth or traditional IRA, which sequesters your money away for when you are no longer on the job. At that point, you will probably be grateful that you had the foresight to save for retirement rather than spend it on something you would have long since forgotten about.

> Look to the Future. You are not the only one who needs to prepare for retirement. Your kids can also start to plan now. Given the power of compounded interest, starting young is the best golden years. Your child can contribute up to $5,500 for an IRA if they have that much earned income. You can take initiative and fund the account, even if your child is the one who has earned the money, so it is a win-win for any kid! O Source: TurboTax the IRS check for $3,000 in a fund yielding 1% interest and maintain a $3,000 balance on a credit card account charging 18% interest. Going this route allows you to put more

Meadowview Elementary

Meadowview Elementary class 2B spent many days having indoor recess, during a cold stretch in February. Using some donated, outdated stationery from the Hummel Group (formerly Yoder Insurance), they completed a STEM activity with paper airplanes. After a week of trying out many different styles and designs of paper airplanes, they had their final fly-off. The winning airplane traveled approximately 30 feet. Not too bad for these first-time pilots!

BREAST CANCER: BEST PROTECTION IS EARLY DETECTION!!!...

Breast cancer will affect an average of one in seven women during their lifetime and is the second most common cause of cancerrelated deaths in women.

Regular screenings are a good way to keep your health in check. Cancer screenings help to save lives as mammograms can find cancer before symptoms are present. Diagnostic mammography is used when an abnormality is found during screening or in women who have breast complaints, such as a breast mass, nipple discharge, breast pain or skin irritation.

Topeka Elementary honored students with awards in Math, Reading, and Life Skills. These students are listed in no particular order. ①

Topeka Students Go to The Beach

Each year, to welcome in spring, students and staff have dress up Fridays in March. One of the dress up days was a Beach Day. Principal Mrs. Becky Siegel along with her student helper, kindergartener Vincent Vogt read a beach story. Meanwhile, sitting in beach props while enjoying a book are third graders, Leila Graber and Hadleigh Cotherman.

Westview Students Earn ISSMA Awards

Members of Westview Junior and Senior High School's Music Department recently participated in the Indiana State School Music Association's (ISSMA) Solo and Ensemble contest. This yearly event is organized and sponsored by ISSMA in Indianapolis. In a normal year, the musicians would travel to a local host school, prepare and perform solos or small ensembles for a judge to critique, offer advice, and issue a rating of Gold, Silver, Bronze, or Participation. However, due to COVID-19 restrictions, this event went virtual this year. After, preparing their solos and ensembles the students performed their pieces online in an app provided by ISSMA. Judges were still able to watch and critique each performance. Westview had 40 entries, which involved 55 students. Of those, entries all of Westview's musicians earned either a gold or silver medal rating including 39 gold medal ratings and one silver medal rating. Of the gold medal entries, 13 were in Group I, which means that they qualify for the state contest. Because of the timeline and restrictions, ISSMA decided to issue state medals to any Group I entries earning a gold medal at the district level, rather than try to hold the state contest.

The Bank Robber Had a Conscience.

"Keep smiling and give me your money."

by Harold D. Gingerich

It was a normal Friday in January, that is until a lone robber walked into Farmers State Bank in Topeka about midday and handed a note to the teller, Cheryl Cripe, demanding money. The note read, "Keep smiling and give me your money." Moments later the felon walked out of the bank with a bag of cash ... and disappeared without a trace. The date was January 30, 1981.

It was front page news in all the local papers. The February 4, 1981, LaGrange Standard headline read: "Farmers Bank Office at Topeka Robbed by Lone Man." Along with the story was a 5x7 photo of a handwritten paper taped to the bank's front door which read: "Bank Closed Due To Robbery". The LaGrange Standard report said, "The man was wearing a dark stocking cap, sunglasses, a bright green nylon windbreaker jacket, and small patterned blue and gray checkered pants." The news story also reported that the robber had been seen near the bank by several people before the robbery. He was described as "a white male, 40-50 years of age, 6 feet 3 inches tall, and of slender build. He had gray and black, salt and pepper hair and mustache."

No gun was displayed during the robbery. Bank employees were quoted as saying that the man smiled during the robbery, and they described him as having "nice straight teeth and a nice smile." The bank released no details as to how much money had been taken.

Immediately following the robbery, the call went out for Topeka

Town Marshal Auburn "Red" Haggard. Unfortunately, Red, who was also a member of the volunteer fire department, was on a fire call in Emma at the time of the robbery. County and state authorities from LaGrange and Ligonier did set up road surveillance in and around Topeka but observed no one matching the suspect's description. Their efforts were further hampered by the fact that they had no description of the get-a-way vehicle. The investigation hit a dead end after it was discovered that the bank's security camera had no pictures of the robbery.

The case may never have been solved were it not for a guilty conscience. Shortly before 11 o'clock Tuesday evening on February 3, Pastor Gregory Coons from the First

Joseph Miller trial in bank robbery opens

Church of God in Goshen received a call from a man he did not know. The caller was 39-year-old Joseph Nelson Miller who admitted to the robbery and was very concerned about what would happen to his child. Pastor Coons told Miller that he would come to his mobile home, but he would be accompanied by a police officer.

Following the telephone conversation, Pastor Coons immediately called the Goshen Police Department. The Indiana State Police post in Ligonier was notified and Trooper Melvin Eash accompanied Coons to the Twin Pines Mobile Home Court on Wilden Avenue in Goshen to make the arrest. Miller invited them in, was advised of his rights, and was taken into custody. Miller was first transported to the LaGrange County Sheriff's Department for questioning. He was later taken back to his home where a search uncovered the evidence that tied Miller to the robbery.

It appears his motive was desperation. Miller had once lived in Topeka and was a former employee of Coachman Industries in Middlebury. According to the February 5, 1981, front page story in The Goshen News covering his arraignment in LaGrange Circuit Court, "He reportedly took the money because of depression over the loss of custody of his child since he was out of work." Judge Howard E. Peterson presided at the hearing where Miller was charged with the theft of $4,451. When Miller asked for a court appointed attorney, Prosecutor Michael Yoder objected, stating that the taxpayers should not have to pay for Miller's attorney. Judge Peterson sustained the objection and Miller was told to hire his own lawyer. Bond was set at $15,000 and a second hearing was scheduled for 1 pm on February 19, 1981.

At the February 19 hearing, Miller, who was represented by attorneys Richard and David Mehl of Goshen, entered a plea of not guilty. Judge Peterson then set a date for 9 am Tuesday, May 19, for the jury trial. Miller's attorney requested that he be released on his own recognizance. That request was denied, but Judge Peterson did reduce the bond to $6,000 so that Miller could have job interviews. Miller had explained to the court that he had custody of a 7-year-old child who had been placed in the custody of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. & Mrs. Ed Miller. Bond was posted later that day.

The trial opened at 9 o'clock

Innocent plea entered

LAGRANGE — Joseph Nelson
filler, 39, of Lot 27, 2000 W. Wilden, Joshen, pleaded innocent Monday in he Jan. 30 holdup of a Topeka bank nd a trial date of May 19 was set by aGrange Circuit Court Judge How.

ard E. Peterson.
Miller appeared before Judge Peterson Monday afternoon for ar raignment on bank robbery charge: and was represented by attorneys Richard and David Mehl of Goshen. Miller had been held under $15,00 bond since last Thursday, when he appeared for a preliminary hearing after turning himself in to Gosher Branch in Topeka during which [4,45] was taken. On Monday, Miller pleaded not guilty to the charges and Judge Peterson set 9 a.m. Tuesday, May 19, as the start of a jury trial.

Miller's attorney asked that Miller be released on his own recognizance, but the request was refused.

His attorneys then requested bond be lowered so that Miller could be released and have job interviews. After consideration, Judge Petersen reduced the bond to $6,000, which was produced later in the day.

Miller explained that he had custody of a 7-year-old cMld, who has been placed in custody cf his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Miller.

Tuesday morning and by 11:30 am of the following day it went to the jury. Shortly before 2:30 pm on Wednesday the jury was back with their verdict ... guilty. Judge Peterson allowed Miller to remain free on bond until his sentencing.

Ruth Waddell, Tribune correspondent, covered the sentencing of Miller for *The South Bend Tribune*¹. Judge Peterson sentenced Miller to seven years in prison and fined him $10,000 in costs. Peterson then suspended $8,000 and six years of the sentence. Miller was placed on probation for seven years and ordered to serve one year in the LaGrange County Jail on work release. Following the year of work release, Miller was to do 300 hours of community service in the Topeka area.

As ordered by the court, Joseph Nelson Miller paid his debt to society. Over the next 20 years that followed serving his time, he worked for Kropf Industries. Joe died early Saturday morning, March 2, 2013, at Courtyard Healthcare in Goshen. He had been in failing health the previous nine months. He was survived by his two children James C. Miller and Deb Kuhl, both of Goshen, six grandchildren, and a brother, Edward L. (Darla) Miller of Bristol. Pastor Jon Rauch of Grace Community Church officiated the funeral service on Tuesday, March 5, 2013, at Yoder-Culp Funeral Home. Burial was at Miller 8 Square Cemetery in Goshen.

Miller found guilty in Topeka robbery

Miller, 39, of Goshen, was found guilty of robbery by a LaGrange County jury here Wednesday after-

The trial opened Tuesday morning in LaGrange Circuit Court, went to the jury about 11:40 a.m. Wednesday. The verdict was returned shortly before 2:30 p.m.

He was charged on Feb. 5 with th Jan. 30 robbery of the Farmer' State Bank Branch in Topeka i which $4.451 was taken during noontime holdup.

During testimony, witnesses sai Miller walked into the bank ar handed teller Cheryl Cripe a note demanding money. The note read("Keep smiling, Act like nothing's wrong Hand over all your hundreds, fifthes and twenties. Do not turn me in. in one-half hour as I have not have a mental hour as I have a restrained in have an extra hole in your nose. Be fast about it. Now, I have a freend outside. He will stay here for that half hour with a police radio watching you (No marked bills will day).

Judge Howard E. Petersen continued Miller's bond of $6000, which he furnished at the time of his arrest.

"Typical mold remediation companies like to scare people ..."

Let us face it, mold is just nasty! We all know that it does bad things to us and to our health. None of us ever want to find it in our house, but if we do, how do we get rid of it? We can spray it with bleach, try to paint over it with "mold killing" paint, or we can call the experts at Mold Mob. Located at the junction of 5 and 20 in Shipshewana, Jamie Miller and his crew will not just get rid of your mold problem, they will eliminate the source. They are also experts at dealing with problems like pet odors and smoke. Mold Mob has been certified by the Institute of Inspection Cleaning and Restoration.

In 2003, Miller started Gold Key Inspection Service which provides prospective homeowners with a detailed inspection report before the real estate transaction is finalized. Gold Key's service ensures that a new homeowner will not be faced with unexpected, costly repairs shortly after moving in.

"In the process of doing home inspections, we often encounter issues with mold," Jamie said. He went on to say that, "Mold is something that gets certain people fired up and we thought, 'we know how to deal with people, how to talk about it so they have the information, but we are not exaggerating it." Typical mold remediation companies like to scare people ... and charge a lot!" And so, in June of 2020, Miller started Mold Mob with the goal of providing an affordable solution, utilizing plant-based enzymes that will not harm the environment.

"I thought if there is a small problem with mold behind a water heater that has been caused by a leak, we can find that at a reasonable cost," Jamie observed. "We started at the beginning of the COVID -19 pandemic, so viruses and sanitation were on high alert. We have sprays to put on the walls that will kill the viruses and the odor." Like Gold Key, Mold Mob services clients within a 60-mile radius.

When asked what he wants people to know about Mold Mob, he was quick to respond. "It is really important to know that if you have mold it is caused by something, and we want to solve that issue first," Jamie said. "We don't want to just charge someone something to treat the surface; we need to dig and find out why it is happening."

Miller went on to explain that mold needs several things to grow. It needs the right temperature, the right moisture content, and it needs something to feed on. From Jamie's perspective, eliminating the moisture is often the easiest solution.

A graduate of Westview High School and Liberty University, Jamie grew up working with the public. His parents, Mel and Bonita Miller, owned and operated the Topeka Do It Best Center in Topeka for more than 20 years. "I started working in the store (hardware) when I was in the fifth or sixth grade," Jamie said with a smile. "And I learned so much about dealing with the public, and facts about every department, which has been a valuable building block in my home inspection business, and everything else that I am doing. Our son Drew works for Nate (Jones) at Yoder Hardware and I told him, 'You are going to learn so much!'"

Jamie and his wife Donna, who were married on August 6, 1994, have three children. Their oldest son, Jordan, will graduate this spring from Indiana Tech with a degree in mechanical engineering. Their daughter, Alyssa, is a junior at Liberty University studying music. Drew, their youngest, is a senior at Westview High School. The Millers are members of Brenneman Memorial Missionary Church in Goshen.

So, if you are looking for a Christian company that will help you solve a problem with mold, odor, or if your home or office needs disinfecting, be sure to call Jamie at Mold Mob (260-214-1250). Mold Mob shares office space with Gold Key Inspection Service (8100 W. US 20). Business hours are Monday – Friday from 8:30 am to 5 pm. •

Free Suicide Prevention Training

Parkview LaGrange Hospital is offering free suicide prevention training to the community, as virtual classes available through the end of the year.

Trainers from the hospital will teach QPR, which stands for question, persuade, and refer. Any adult can learn QPR in a few hours and become prepared to recognize the signs of someone at risk of suicide, offer hope, and connect that person to the care needed.

"Just as CPR helps save thousands during a cardiovascular emergency each year, those trained in QPR know how to recognize the warning signs of a mental health crisis and also save lives during a mental health emergency," said Rhonda Sharp, MD, Parkview Physicians Group – Family Medicine. "We want the public to have the tools they need to respond when a friend, family member, co-worker, or anyone else they know needs help. This training empowers you to make a difference."

Virtual classes will be held on Thursdays from 4:30 pm on the
ing dates: May 6, 10, July 8, August 12,
September 9, October 7,
November 4, and December 9.

The virtual training sessions are open to anyone age 18 and older. To participate, individuals will need to have access to a computer, tablet, or smartphone with the free app, Microsoft Teams.

Registration is required at least three days prior to the preferred training date, and capacity is limited. To

Westview Welcomes New Hires

At the April board meeting for Westview School Corporation, board members welcomed several new administrators.

Amy Garber was hired as the new Shipshewana-Scott Elementary School principal. Amy brings many years of classroom experience and building leadership to her new position. Garber came through 23 applicants and a rigorous interview process. Westview is excited to watch her growth while leading Shipshewana-Scott's learning community. Her understanding of relationships and performance will serve her well.

Nikki Helmuth has been named the new Meadowview Elementary School principal. She has been with Meadowview Elementary School since 2006. Nikki has grown her leadership experiences at Meadowview and within corporation teams. She has shown a willingness to improve herself and take on jobs which improve Westview. Nikki's understanding of the Meadowview community will be an asset.

Morgan Stout will be the new Coordinator of Curriculum, Instruction, and Assessment. Westview is excited to have Morgan Stout join the leadership team. Her quality classroom instruction will help lead the corporation's alignment and on-going improvement of best instructional practices. Stout's enthusiasm, understanding, and work ethic will mesh well with the teaching staff. Morgan has an opportunity to help Westview grow in its ability to meet students' academic needs. •
